Magical Government in Cape Coral

A few weeks back I was told by Mr Stewart that myself and the residents in Cape Coral were the only special interests here. As far as I can tell the only thing that would make the residents special interests in Cape Coral are our wallets and how fast the city can empty them.

A month or so ago we were told that we are getting a better construction price as far as the installation of water and waste water lines and plant upgrades VS what is being paid by other communities in the area. How can we be getting such a great deal and wind up paying 2 - 5 times more than what people in other communities are paying, for the same services ?

I remember some time back when our educational system came up with, and got rid of something they called "new math", does anyone remember that ?

Are our construction costs being calculated based on the new math concept we heard so much about ? Has  $2 + 2$  suddenly become 5 or am I missing something aside from a great deal of money that is literally being flushed down the toilet ?

It appears the streets in Cape Coral are paved in gold, ask MWH they should be able to confirm this. For the money we are paying there must be something very special about this new anti gravity system. It must be anti gravity, we are paying too much for a plain old gravity system.

There is something very magical about The City Government in Cape Coral. Just look at how fast our government can make our money disappear and how fast they can come back looking for more. I guess the old adage is correct, "The Hand is Quicker Than the Eye".
